"House That Jack MRS. LENA R. SIKES DIES ON WEDNESDAY; RITES ON THURSDAY

DENTON, Tex., Sept. 5—(R)—

"This is the house that Jack built."
Trat's more than a nursery rhyme in Denton. When Jack Moore, youthful veteran of the European battlefront, and his pretty brownhaired bride, Norma, decided to set up housekeeping in Denton, they began their search hopefully enough.

"At first we couldn't find what we wanted," Jack said. "And then we couldn't find anything at all."
Finally they settled themselves in an apartment, which, although comfortable, simply wasn't "home."

Jack was attending North Texas State College and Norma was a junior at Texas State College for Women when they were married last October.

Early this year they found a lot that, to them, spelled home. The house itself they designed together, arranging it with a living room, two bedrooms, a kitchen, study and bath.

Last May 20 the newlyweds began construction. By Sept. 1 they were moving in. Every bit of the actual building was done by Jack, who called in outside help only for the plumbing and roofing. With no previous experience in carpentering, Jack said, "We did it strictly from observation."

It was the same story everywhere the new B. F. Goodrich tire was tested . . . on taxis, police cars, the B. F. Goodrich test fleet, and in the laboratory.

Under all conditions, even at high speed, on test cars driven steadily at 60 miles per hour, hour after hour, averaging over a thousand miles a day, the new B. F. Goodrich Silver- reason . . . a stronger tire body made town was a superior performer. It outran prewar tires . . . showed less tread wear . . . gave thousands of miles of extra service.

Why? One reason is that the wider, flatter tread puts more rubber on the road to share the wear.

But under that tread is another with better cords and more of them. That's why this new tire stands up better ... and outwears prewar tires. So here's a tip. If you'll be needing new tires for your car soon, come

ARMY TRYING TO GET SYSTEM TO IMPROVE MEALS OF SOLDIERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.-(AP)-Still uncertain whether to abolish its KP system, the army is bearing down in other directions to better acound solutions to better soldiers' meals.

As a followup to criticism from a group of civilian advisers, Secretary of War Patterson has directed a "broad program" of training officers and GI's in food handling and preparation.

Some new schools have bed and solutions and preparation.

ed and others revived to provide the training, an army announce-ment said today. Meanwhile, an investigation of army messes and methods in this country and overseas is being con-ducted by a group of 75 officers ducted by a group of 75 officers. Still under consideration is a recommendation that the traditional army cook and his kitchen police helper be replaced by a separate food service corps.

The recommendation was made by an advisory committee which Patterson appointed shortly after
